Etienne Ludick neither of you know how ships are run. And this incident didn't lead to those people dying or getting run..and finally no one knows how any of this happened.. Intelligent people wait for evidence to make comments

Casper Tfg intelligent sailors do not collide in ports. If the wind is too high, they don't sail without tugs in port.

Timo Granberg Have you ever heard of engine failure, steering failure, auxiliary breakdowns, electrical power failure, navigational equipment failure etc? Wind is not the only factor affecting navigation btw. It's easy to comment when you are not on it.
